Republican Strong h. Democracy is already commencing to assure itself of good prospects for a democratic victory in 1892. Like the ever sanguine prospector, who picks the very choicest specimens possible from his claim and getting them assayed immediately undertakes to convince himself that this is a fair average of the entire lead, so the democratic party seeing apparent dissatisfaction in the ranks of the republican party in the "off" years immediately makes itself believe that its great progressive political opponent is on the verge of dissolution. A wise observer, however, would see in these expressions of apparent dissatisfaction the elements of strength of the party. It is by just such independent but intelligent and progressive thought within the party that it has been able for the past thirty years to take the lead in all questions of reform and progress.

While there may be individual differences of opinion among republicans, and while these differences may and do manifest themselves, they are by no means a sign of weakness but rather of strength. Not only the leaders, but the rank and file as well of the republican party are possessed of too much intelligence for ever to be developed within it such a spectacie as the democracy pre- ident and general manager of the Resented to the country in 1888-a man who was greater than his party and who!

session of the executive department of bearing fruit. the government and in the majority in | The czar has revoked the edict against both branches of the legislative department and it is not within the range of possibilities for the democracy to hope to be in this position under any circumstances for the next decade. The prospect is a gloomy one to them for any change in the executive-department for years to come. But suppose, that by an emergency a democratic president could be elected in 1892 - an improbable though not impossible supposition-and even go farther and concede the lower house of congress to them the senate still remains and in the natural order of things is bound to remain solidly republican for years to come. This simple but indisputable fact, is, in itself an element of strength to the party, too, and | price of beer to 2 cts per glass. will tend to aid in maintaining it in

Killed by His Tribe

The news of the killing of the Piute who murdered the Mineral Park and El cans manage to pull through. Dorado Canyon mail carrier on July 20th was brought here last Tuesday by a miner from the canyon. The whites were considerably excited over the murder and had every reason to believe that should the murderer go unpunished other misdeeds would be perpetrated by fallen into poverty. bad members of the tribe. It was known that the guilty Indian was secreted by the tribe, and every means was brought to bear upon the chiefs to have him delivered to the whites, and for several days all efforts proved futile In the meantime the Indians held powwows, finally told the whites that they had concluded to kill the guilty Indian, and that lots had been cast and the duty of killing had fallen to a brother of the murderer, and that he was already on his way to perform his mission. In few hours the Indian returned bringing a big toe and an ear which he said were taken from his brother's body and that he had killed him. The whites were not satisfied with the evidence furnished and insisted on being shown the dead body. After considerable parley the Indians consented that a number of white men could go with the Indian and be shown the dead one. The body was found several miles from the canyon, and the proof being sufficient the whites were satisfied. Forty dollars and the mail carrier's pistol and cartridge belt were found on the dead Indian Quiet now reigns in the canyon and no trouble is expected from the Indians in the near future, and the whites are fully satisfied with the result. - Mohave

"Stealing at the penitentiary, under republican administrations, was a fine to it. art. A $10,000 appropriation "for cells" (?) was one small item." It is un necessary to remark that the above is taken from our democratic contemporay in Prescott. A blind man could readily see that it was taken from a democratic paper. It has been the custom from time imemorial for papers of that political faith to refer to appropriations for improvements of all kinds as "steals." Suppose there was a $10,oog appropriation for prison cells under a republican administration, which we believe there was, the money was honestly expended and the territory go value received for every dollar of it How was it with the $10,000 or $12,000 "appropriated" by Little Steve, the democratic prison commissioner? there was a steal in the $10,000 appropriation for cells, as intimated, the democratic party when it had control of the administration was derelict in duty not exposing it and recovering the amount stolen. After allowing such a golden opportunity to pass, it is rather late in the day now to bring up such an antiquated charge in the hopes of making political capital out of it.
